Commentary on Performance

Operating Environment

These results have been achieved in an operating environment that has shown signs of stability across key economic indicators that traditionally influence performance. Inflation remained low for most part of the financial year, prompting an accommodative monetary policy stance of three discount rate cuts during the financial year. The bank's advances book continued to grow in line with the growth observed in overall credit extension to the private sector. Structural challenges such as high youth unemployment and limited economic diversification continue to weigh on long-term growth potential.

Statement of financial position

 $Gross\,advances\,grew\,13\%\,year\,on\,year\,demonstrating$ increased through credit extension across all product lines particularly overdrafts, term loans and leases. Deposits have grown by 5% year on year largely driven by current and call accounts reflecting. Continued focus on funding advances pipeline for growth. Loans to Deposit Ratio has grown to 73.2% Total Assets rose to E10.292 billion reflecting a 6% growth year on year reflecting robust balance sheet growth.

Financial Performance

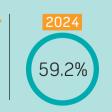

Post Tax Earnings remained flat year on year while profit before tax declined 5%. Total Income grew 9%. Resilient Net Interest Income Growth of 12% driven by advances growth and optimisation of financial assets. Despite credit impairment ratios increasing to 0.6% (2024: 0.2%), they still remain in line with industry experience.

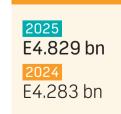

Non-Interest Revenue grew by 10% supported by robust active customer acquisition and increased utilization of our self-service channels. FNB's eWallet remains a trusted channel in helping Emaswati facilitate low value domestic payments and continues to experience growth in volumes year on year. Enhancing our customers experience remains a key strategic objective for the bank through solutions that bring ease and convenience.

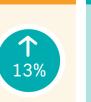

FNB Eswatini continues to prioritize investment in its people, platforms and infrastructure to build capabilities and capacity to improve customer experience. A key milestone achieved by the bank is the successful migration of the CMA low value electronic payments to Forex platforms and the first phase of the Eswatini Payment Switch to enable fast payments between banks. The bank will continue to dedicate resources to these national initiatives to enable interoperability of its solutions. These increased investments have led to an increase of 18% in operating expenses, but expectations are that this will normalize over the foreseeable future. The bank has instituted a rigorous operational optimization program to contain cost growth in expenses and align resources towards value generation through continued automation and process re-engineering.

The bank's total equity position at E1.437 billion is well above regulatory capital adequacy requirements strates that the hank to absorb future volatility and support positive long-term growth. The bank remains committed to fostering shared prosperity and financial inclusion.
