FNBE has developed this FNBE customer privacy notice (notice) to enable its customers to understand how FNBE collects, uses, and safeguards their personal information.

FNBE collects personal information about its customers. This includes what customers share with FNBE about themselves, what FNBE learns by having a customer or when a customer makes use of a solution or interacts with FNBE's platform through various interfaces and channels, as well as the choices customers make about the marketing they elect to receive. This notice also outlines customers' privacy rights and how the law protects customers.

In terms of applicable privacy laws, this notice may also apply on behalf of other third parties (such as authorised agents and contractors), acting on FNBE's behalf when providing customers with solutions.

In this notice "process" means how FNBE collects, uses, stores, makes available, destroys, updates, discloses, or otherwise deals with customers' personal information. FNBE respects customers' privacy and will treat their personal information confidentially.

FNBE may combine customers' personal information (across FNBE's platform, interfaces or channels and use the combined personal information for any of the purposes stated in this notice.

VERY IMPORTANT: If customers use FNBE's platform, solutions or service channels (including both assisted and unassisted interactions), or by accepting any rules, agreement, contract, mandate or annexure with FNBE, or by utilising any solutions offered by FNBE, customers agree that in order to:

- conclude and fulfil contractual terms or obligations to a customer;
- comply with obligations imposed by law; or

- to protect or pursue customers', FNBE's, or a third party's legitimate interests, including designing and offering solutions that best meet customers' needs;

customers' personal information may be processed through centralised functions and systems across FNBE and may be used for the purposes, in the manner, and with the appropriate controls as set out in this notice.

Where it is necessary to obtain consent for processing, FNBE will seek customers' consent separately. Customers should read the consent request carefully as it may limit their rights. A customer may maintain their consent preferences on FNBE's platform. Customers can go to branch to change their preferences.

NOTE: As FNB (division of FirstRand Limited) has operations in a number of countries, this notice will apply to the processing of personal information by any member of FirstRand Limited globally, and the processing of customers' personal information may be conducted outside the borders of Eswatini but will be processed according to the requirements and safeguards of applicable privacy law or privacy rules that bind FNBE. If FNBE processes personal information for another party under a contract or a mandate, the other party's privacy notice will apply to the processing.

FNBE may change this notice from time to time if required by law or its business practices. Where the change is material, FNBE will notify customers and will allow a reasonable period for customers to raise any objections before the change is made. Please note that FNBE may not be able to continue a relationship with a customer or provide customers with certain solutions or permit access to FNBE's platform if they do not agree to the changes.

The latest version of the notice displayed on FNB Eswatini's website will apply to customers' interactions with FNBE and is available at: <https://www.fnbswaziland.co.sz/legal/privacyPolicy.html>.

17 UNDER WHAT CIRCUMSTANCES WILL FNBE TRANSFER CUSTOMERS' PERSONAL INFORMATION TO OTHER COUNTRIES?

FNBE will only transfer a customer's personal information to third parties in another country in any one or more of the following circumstances:

- where a customer's personal information will be adequately protected under the other country's laws or an agreement with the third-party recipient;
- where the transfer is necessary to enter into, or perform, under a contract with the customer or a contract with a third party that is in the customer's interest;
- where the customer has consented to the transfer; and/or
- where it is not reasonably practical to obtain the customer's consent, but the transfer is in the customer's interest.

This transfer will happen within the requirements and safeguards of applicable laws or privacy rules that bind FNBE.

Where possible, the party processing a customer's personal information in another country will agree to apply the same level of protection as available by law in Eswatini, or if the other country's laws provide better protection, the other country's laws would be agreed to and applied.

An example of FNBE transferring a customer's personal information to another country would be when a customer makes payments if they purchase goods or services in a foreign country or where personal information is stored with a cloud services provider and the servers are in a foreign country.

TAKE NOTE: As FirstRand Limited operates in several countries, customers' personal information may be shared with group companies in other countries and processed in those countries under the privacy rules that bind FirstRand Limited.

18 CUSTOMERS' DUTIES AND RIGHTS REGARDING THE PERSONAL INFORMATION FNBE HAS ABOUT THEM

Customers must provide FNBE with proof of identity when enforcing the rights below and FNBE will then verify the identity of the customer.

Customers must inform FNBE when their personal information changes, as soon as possible after the change.

Customers warrant that when they provide FNBE with personal information of their spouse, dependants or any other person, they have permission from them to share their personal information with FNBE. FNBE will process the personal information of the customer's spouse, dependent or any other person which the customer has shared with it as stated in this notice.

18.1 Right to access

Customers have the right to request access to the personal information FNBE has about them by contacting FNBE. This includes requesting:

- confirmation that FNBE holds the customer's personal information;
- a copy or description of the record containing the customer's personal information; and
- the identity or categories of third parties who have had access to the customer's personal information.

FNBE will attend to requests for access to personal information within a reasonable time and in alignment with the law. Customers may be required to pay a reasonable fee (aligned to the law) to receive copies or descriptions of records, or information about, third parties. FNBE will inform customers of the fee before attending to their request.

Customers should note that the law may limit their right to access information, e.g. information relating to FNBE's intellectual property, competitively sensitive information or legally privileged information.

In certain instances, customers can give effect to this right by making use of FNBE's unassisted interfaces, e.g. using FNB's app or website to access the personal information FNBE holds about them.

18.2 Right to correction, deletion or destruction

Customers have the right to request FNBE to correct, delete or destroy the personal information it has about them if it is inaccurate, irrelevant, excessive, out of date, incomplete, misleading, obtained unlawfully, or if FNBE are no longer authorised to keep it. Customers must inform FNBE of their request in the prescribed form. Prescribed form 2 has been included as an annexure to this notice.

FNBE will take reasonable steps to determine if the personal information is correct and make any correction needed. It may take a reasonable time for the change to reflect on FNBE's platform/systems. FNBE may request documents from the customer to verify the change in personal information.

A specific agreement that a customer has entered into with FNBE may determine how the customer must change their personal information provided at the time when they entered into the specific agreement. Customers must adhere to these requirements.

If the law requires FNBE to keep the personal information, it will not be deleted or destroyed upon the customer's request. The deletion or destruction of certain personal information may lead to the termination of a customer's relationship with FNBE.

FNBE may not be able to establish a relationship with a customer, continue a relationship with a customer, process a transaction or provide a customer with a solution, if the customer withhold or request deletion of personal information or sensitive personal information required in terms of The Money Laundering and Financing of Terrorism (Prevention) Act for financial crime prevention, detection and reporting purposes.

In certain instances, a customer can give effect to this right by making use of FNBEs' unassisted interfaces, e.g. using a FNBE app or website to correct their contact details.

18.3 Right to objection

Customers may object on reasonable grounds to the processing of their personal information where the processing is in their legitimate interest, FNBE's legitimate interest or in the legitimate interest of another party.

Customers must inform FNBE of their objection in the prescribed form. Prescribed form 1 is included as an annexure to this notice.

FNBE will not be able to give effect to the customer's objection if the processing of their personal information was and is permitted by law, the customer has provided consent to the processing and FNBE's processing was conducted in line with their consent; or the processing is necessary to conclude or perform under a contract with the customer.

FNBE will also not be able to give effect to a customer's objection if the objection is not based upon reasonable grounds and substantiated with appropriate evidence.

FNBE will provide customers with feedback regarding their objections.

18.4 Right to withdraw consent

Where a customer has provided their consent for the processing of their personal information, the customer may withdraw their consent. If they withdraw their consent, FNBE will explain the consequences to the customer. If a customer withdraws their consent, FNBE may not be able to provide certain solutions to the customer or provide the customer access to FNBE's platform. FNBE will inform the customer if this is the case. FNBE may proceed to process customers' personal information, even if they have withdrawn their consent, if the law permits or requires it. It may take a reasonable time for the change to reflect on FNBEs' systems. During this time, FNBE may still process the customer's personal information.

Customers can give effect to this right by making use of FNBE's unassisted service channels, e.g. using a FNBE app or website, or through an assisted interaction to update their consent preferences.

18.5 Right to complain

Customers have a right to file a complaint with FNBE or any regulator with jurisdiction (in Eswatini customers can contact the Information Regulator) about an alleged contravention of the protection of their personal information. FNBE will address customer complaints as far as possible.

21 COOKIES

A cookie is a small piece of data that is sent (usually in the form of a text file) from a website to the user's device, such as a computer, smartphone or tablet. There are different types of cookies which serve different purposes, and this is fully explained in the FNBE cookie notice available on FNBE's website. The purpose of a cookie is to provide a reliable mechanism to "remember" user behaviour (keeping track of previous actions), e.g. remembering the contents of an online shopping cart, and actions the user performed whilst browsing when not signed up or logged into their online account.

FNBE does not necessarily know the identity of the user of the device but does see the behaviour recorded on the device. Multiple users of the same device would not necessarily be distinguishable from one another. Cookies could, however, be used to identify the device and, if the device is linked to a specific user, the user would also be identifiable. For example, a device registered to an app.

By using FNBE website or app, customers agree that cookies may be forwarded from the relevant website or app to their computer or device. Certain cookies will enable FNBE to know that a customer has visited a website or app before and will identify the customer. FNBE may also use third-party or necessary cookies to prevent fraud.

Please refer to the FNBE cookie notice for further information.

22 HOW FNBE PROCESSES PERSONAL INFORMATION ABOUT PERSONS RELATED TO A JURISTIC PERSON

If a customer is a juristic person, such as a company or close corporation, FNBE may collect and use personal information relating to the juristic person's directors, officers, employees, beneficial owners, partners, shareholders, members, authorised signatories, representatives, agents, payers, payees, customers, guarantors, spouses of guarantors, sureties, spouses of sureties, other security providers and other persons related to the juristic person. These are related persons.

If customers provide the personal information of a related person to FNBE, they warrant that the related person is aware that they are sharing their personal information with FNBE, and that the related person has consented thereto.

FNBE will process the personal information of related persons as stated in this notice, thus references to "customer/s" in this notice will include related persons with the necessary amendments and limitations.
